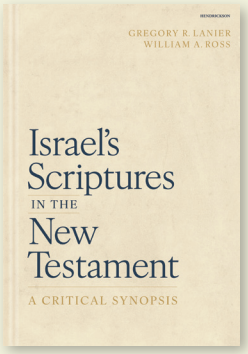
J. H. MOULTON AND G. MILLIGAN
REVISED AND UPDATED BY ALLAN T. LODER
979-8-4005-2238-3

This major revision of Moulton and Milligan now covers every NT Greek word, adding 937 entries based upon new papyrological and epigraphical evidence. Glosses, translations, Strong's numbers, and a glossary of technical terms support lexical study.

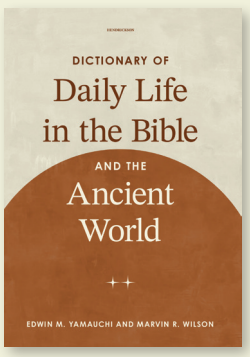


ISRAEL'S SCRIPTURE IN THE NEW TESTAMENT: A CRITICAL SYNOPSIS

GREGORY R. LANIER AND WILLIAM A. ROSS
978-1-68307-295-9

For every OT chapter cited in the NT, this volume compiles original-language texts from the Hebrew Bible, NT, and 2JT literature alongside brief commentary and extensive text-critical details to facilitate the study of biblical intertextuality.

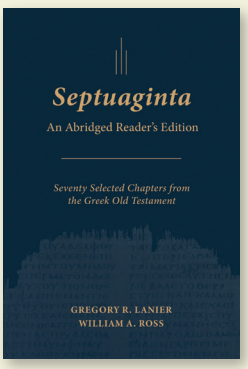
FEBRUARY 2027



DICTIONARY OF DAILY LIFE IN THE BIBLE AND THE ANCIENT WORLD

EDWIN M. YAMAUCHI
AND MARVIN R. WILSON, EDS.
979-8-4005-2883-5

Using a framework adapted from anthropological studies, the DDL illuminates Scripture's cultural backdrop by comparing aspects of daily life across the Hebrew Bible, NT, ANE, Greco-Roman world, and postbiblical Jewish and Christian communities.



SEPTUAGINTA: AN ABRIDGED READER'S EDITION

GREGORY R. LANIER AND WILLIAM A. ROSS
979-8-4005-0469-3

Seventy curated chapters from the Greek Old Testament with contextual glosses and parsing for less frequent words. Difficulty ratings for each reading allow students to progress from easier to more challenging texts.

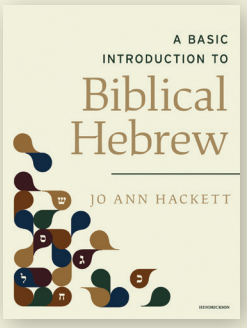
BIBLICAL HEBREW SIMPLIFIED: LEARNING TO READ THROUGH HEBREW-ENGLISH BLENDS

JENNIFER E. NOONAN
979-8-4005-1172-1

Drawing on SLA research, this workbook guides learners through Hebrew Bible passages across eight levels, progressing from English-only to Hebrew-only text. Designed to supplement any Hebrew grammar, it gives instructors a flexible way to incorporate recent pedagogy.

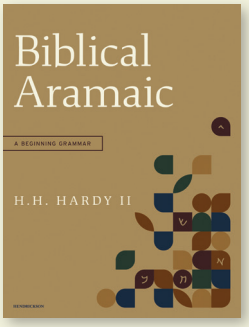


A BASIC INTRODUCTION TO BIBLICAL HEBREW

JO ANN HACKETT
978-1-5985-6028-2

Widely adopted for its clarity, depth, and pedagogical sensitivity, Hackett's grammar is now available with accompanying digital resources.

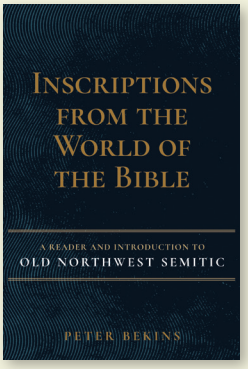
AVAILABLE APRIL 2027



BIBLICAL ARAMAIC: A BEGINNING GRAMMAR

H. H. HARDY II
978-1-4964-8464-2

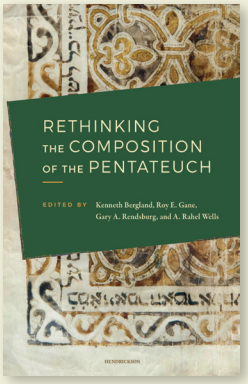
A linguistically informed, ten-lesson introduction to Biblical Aramaic sequenced to encourage early reading. Frequency-based vocabulary and biblical exercises reinforce lessons, while bidirectional glossaries and Aramaic-Hebrew cognate overview support further independent study of the full Biblical Aramaic corpus and wider Aramaic literary tradition.



INSCRIPTIONS FROM THE WORLD OF THE BIBLE: A READER AND INTRODUCTION TO OLD NORTHWEST SEMITIC

PETER BEKINS
978-1-68307-209-6

To equip readers for the study of Phoenician, Hebrew, Moabite, and Aramaic inscriptions, this volume pairs a comparative grammar of the four languages' writing systems, phonology, morphology, and syntax with readings accompanied by commentary.



RETHINKING THE COMPOSITION OF THE PENTATEUCH

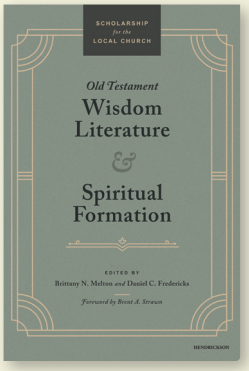
KENNETH BERGLAND, ROY E. GANE, GARY A. RENDSBURG, AND A. RAHEL WELLS, EDS.
979-8-4005-0158-6

These essays by an international group of Jewish and Christian scholars reconsider longstanding approaches to the Pentateuch's composition. Challenging inherited critical models of compositional development, the contributors propose a "positive" approach, which affords greater significance to the texts' own claims about their origins.

ISRAEL IN AND OUT OF EGYPT: THE ARCHAEOLOGICAL AND HISTORICAL BACKGROUND TO THE EXODUS

JAMES K. HOFFMEIER
979-8-4005-1800-3

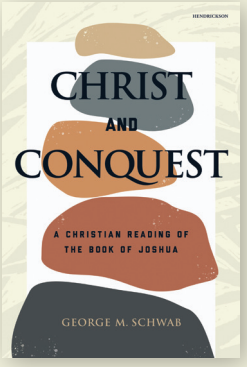
This substantially updated and expanded volume examines the latest Egyptological evidence and argues that it supports the biblical account of the Exodus, incorporating over two decades of new archaeological data.



OLD TESTAMENT WISDOM LITERATURE AND SPIRITUAL FORMATION

BRITTANY N. MELTON AND DANIEL C. FREDERICKS, EDS.
979-8-4005-2018-1

This collection from the Evangelical Foundation for Biblical Research examines both how Proverbs and Ecclesiastes' wisdom sayings functioned in ancient Israel and how they can inform spiritual formation today, with each contribution offering exegetical and practical-theological insights.

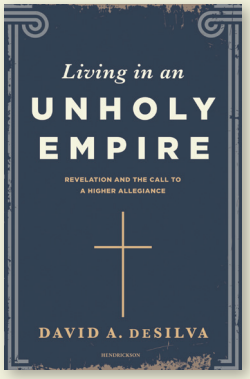


CHRIST AND CONQUEST: A CHRISTIAN READING OF THE BOOK OF JOSHUA

GEORGE M. SCHWAB
979-8-4005-1149-3

Schwab examines the historical setting of Joshua alongside its christological trajectory, tracing how the book's narratives and themes are fulfilled in Christ. Interacting with the Hebrew text while remaining accessible to nonspecialists, this study engages critical exegetical questions and offers a biblical-theological reading of Joshua's contested narrative.

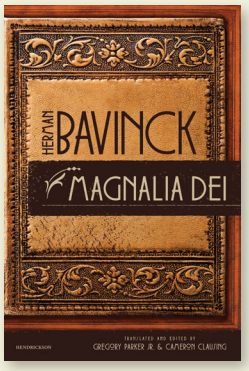
BIBLICAL STUDIES



LIVING IN AN UNHOLY EMPIRE: REVELATION'S CALL TO A HIGHER ALLEGIANCE

DAVID A. DESILVA
979-8-4005-2344-1

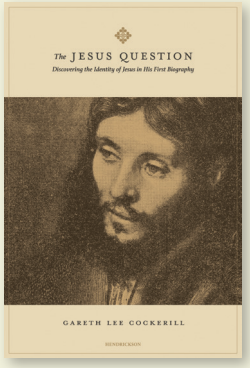
In this expanded and revised edition of Unholy Allegiances, DeSilva interprets Revelation within the historical and cultural world of the first-century churches in Roman Asia, demonstrating how attending to this context sheds new light on the book's continued significance for Christians today.



MAGNALIA DEI

HERMAN BAVINCK
TRANSLATED AND EDITED BY GREGORY PARKER JR. AND CAMERON CLAUSING
978-1-4964-7773-6

This new translation brings Bavinck's accessible articulation of confessional Reformed theology to a new generation of Christians from all walks of life. With an introduction and notes from the translators, this edition suits scholars, students, and laypersons alike.

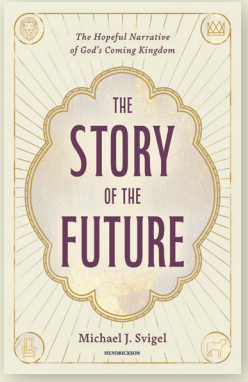


THE JESUS QUESTION: DISCOVERING THE IDENTITY OF JESUS IN HIS FIRST BIOGRAPHY

GARETH LEE COCKERILL
978-1-4964-8775-9

Cockerill outlines how the Gospel of Mark unfolds as a carefully structured account designed to pose the question of Jesus's identity and significance for those who encounter him in the narrative. Written for general readers, this study draws on scholarly research while avoiding technical terminology.

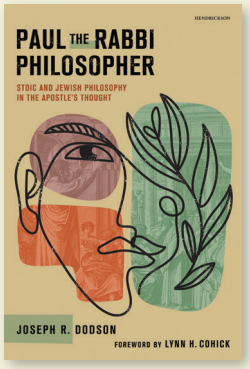
AVAILABLE FEBRUARY 2027



THE STORY OF THE FUTURE: THE HOPEFUL NARRATIVE OF GOD'S COMING KINGDOM

MICHAEL J. SVIGEL
979-8-4005-2022-8

Recovering eschatological insights from Scripture and the early church, Svigel offers a general-audience account of Christian hope—centered on Christ's return, the resurrection of the dead, and the restoration of creation—for readers seeking to understand the future and its significance for life today.



PAUL THE RABBI PHILOSOPHER: STOIC AND JEWISH PHILOSOPHY IN THE APOSTLE'S THOUGHT

JOSEPH R. DODSON
979-8-4005-0052-7

Placing Paul's letters in dialogue with Seneca and the Wisdom of Solomon, Dodson demonstrates both the merits of comparing the NT with surrounding literature and how a nuanced view of Paul as both rabbi and philosopher uncovers new dimensions of the apostle's thought.
